SJC Nursing Course gets nod from CHED

When the government announced on July 13, 2022 that its moratorium on new nursing programs in higher education institutions (HEIs) was lifted, the School administration began keeping in touch with the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) Regional Office in Tacloban City how to proceed its plan to take advantage of the opening of the possibility to offer the course in almost a century old Saint Joseph College.

Bishop Precioso D. Cantillas, SD, DD, School President at that time, together with the Executive Vice President, Msgr. Oscar A. Cadayona, received encouragement from Bishop's long time friend during TESDA days, the Regional Director, Dr. Maximo Aljibe, to start the application process.

The CHED Central Office came to Maasin City to visit Saint Joseph College during the first week of June, 2024. The technical panel of five checked the important documents and personally inspect the facilities which impressed the visitors.

So, Saint Joseph College (SJC) is now proud to announce that its Bachelor of Science in Nursing program has been officially approved by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED).

This approval comes alongside the unveiling of the college's state-of-the-art facilities, designed to provide an exceptional learning environment for aspiring nurses. The CHED approval signifies that SJC's Nursing program meets rigorous academic standards and is equipped to deliver high-quality education.

The program features advanced simulation labs, modern classrooms, and comprehensive clinical training areas, ensuring that students receive hands-on experience in a realistic healthcare setting.

Fr. Aldwin Flax S. Bagares, RN, MAN, Dean of the new program, expressed his excitement about the approval and the new facilities, stating, "We are thrilled to receive CHED's endorsement for our Nursing program. Our state-of-the-art facilities will enhance the learning experience, allowing students to develop their skills in an environment that mirrors real-world healthcare scenarios."

The approval of the Nursing program and the introduction of cutting-edge facilities have generated enthusiasm among students and faculty. "Having access to such modern resources is a game changer for us. It prepares us to be competent and compassionate nurses in the future," said one first-year nursing student.

With the CHED approval and the launch of its state-of-the-art facilities, Saint Joseph College is set to play a pivotal role in addressing the increasing demand for skilled nursing professionals in the Philippines. The college remains committed to fostering a culture of excellence and innovation in nursing education, ensuring that its graduates are well-equipped to meet the challenges of the healthcare industry.

The Philippines is expected to need 250,000 more nurses by 2030 to address a growing nursing shortage. This is in addition to the current shortage of around 127,000 nurses in the country.

The Dean started accepting enrollees in the month of September. By September 30, the formal classes started. For inquiries, any one can visit the Dean's office located at the second floor of the new building called the Nursing Building adjacent to the Cathedral.

SJC Community Extension Service Office reaches out to the INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

The Director of the Community Extension Service Office, Ms. Ruby T. de la Torre, together with the Director of the Office of Arts and Culture, Mr. Ferdinand V. Garvez, led a group of Josephinians to two Southern Leyte towns where “Mamanwa”, one of the oldest nomadic tribes in the Philippines, live. They went first to San Fransisco, Southern Leyte where they met first with the Municipal Mayor and afterwards they walked up hill for four kilometers to reach the community. The nomadic people welcomed the visitors and entertained their questions.

Afterwards, the group proceeded to St. Bernard, Southern Leyte to visit another group of Mamanwa. They stayed in an inn for the night. The following morning they proceeded to the community of Mamanwa who were patient to answer questions from the group for the whole morning.
